Dear Sir/Madam,

Section 7, Data Protection Act, 1998 - Subject Access

In reply to your request for information that may be held about you by the Metropolitan Police on computers in the following categories:-

Person Record: Prosecution/Conviction

The Data Protection Act places an obligation on the Police when holding personal information on computer to provide a copy of that information (unless an exemption applies) to the individual concerned on request.

From the personal details supplied in your request there is no information held about you in the Person Record category of the Police National Computer.

If you requested any categories not shown above the Metropolitan Police will send you a separate reply.

Yours faithfully,

For Director of NIS

[NB: The exemptions in relation to disclosure of information held on Police computers are limited to where data are held for:- (a) the prevention or detection of crime, (b) the apprehension or prosecution of offenders, and disclosing such data would be likely to prejudice those purposes.]
